Entry tips

We appreciate that entering Awards is a time-consuming undertaking. While there's no secret formula that will guarantee success, below are a few pointers that we hope will make the process a little easier.

- There are some new opportunities and updates for 2018 so when deciding which category or categories to enter make sure you take the time to carefully read through the list of categories and criteria to decide on your best fit.
- All categories require a written submission and answers can be given in prose or bullet format. This is your showcase – make sure it reflects the very best of what you do. To view the submission templates in advance of registering and submitting payment, please visit the awards website – www.activeuprising.com
- Space is limited, so please be clear, succinct and specific. Identify your offer and what you deliver and tell us what's great about it!
- Please provide tangible evidence of success. Shower us in statistics, anecdotes, facts and figures. Evidence should be concise and stand up to scrutiny.
- Judges will be looking to reward recent success and will therefore expect to see evidence relating to achievements between January 2017 and end of February 2018. While the programme/project/initiative does not necessarily need to be 'new' or 'recent', make sure the successes outlined within your submission fall within these dates.
- Please note the word count for each section. Any words that exceed the limit may not be considered. Keep it relevant and make sure every detail you supply counts.
- If you are embedding website or video links within your written summaries, these will be noted but not studied in detail by the judges. This part of the assessment is about capturing information and providing context through the written process and within the word count.

- Don't forget that awards are never given to people or organisations simply doing their jobs and the ukactive Awards are no different. There has to be something that sets your entry apart and makes it stand out from the crowd. First and foremost, these awards exist to reward and celebrate excellence and innovation.
- And finally... when you've finished putting your entry together, why not ask someone who wasn't involved in the process to have a read through it? Sometimes a fresh pair of eyes can add valuable perspective and make all the difference.
